Class History

Twelve members of our class entered the High School in January, 1916, the others in September, 1917, but, we, of the former members, can never forget the good times we had during that first half year.

The most impressive entertainment, although it was not very entertaining to us, was our initiation. After this painful event, however, we felt free to enjoy ourselves at the most delightful parties which followed. Of course, the Seniors, believing us to be "green," (which we were not) ignored us disdainfully, especially upon the entrance of fellow members, the Freshmen B's in September, 1917. Among our new classmates were Alice Paine, Dorothea Crisman, Frieda Stark and Grace Nelson, who stayed faithfully to the end.

The first event of importance to us, was the Hard Times Party. All of the High School students pronounced it a great success and appreciated the Freshmen to a degree almost worthy of us. During the latter part of the year we plunged cheerfully in our work by hunting flowers, reading English books and solving for "x."

Many of us took part in a Latin play, in which Harry "starred" as the important Perseus. We also showed our true worth when we entertained at assembly. This proved to be a happy year for us Sophomores and we looked forward to a more glorious and happy Junior year.

We started our new year right by electing Harry, president; Florence, vice-president; Lois, secretary, and Franklin, treasurer, and by planning for our reception. The year proved to be eventful and pleasing to us because our classmates took part in many affairs. Harry was the captain of the Basket Ball team and also a member of the Glee Club to which Selma, Grace and Florence belonged also. The first half of the year passed quickly by with continuous High School dances, basket ball games and Glee Club entertainments to cheer us up.

At the beginning of the new semester Dorothea, Florence, Grace, Mildred and Selma began Shorthand and Typewriting. They reported many humorous incidents, which we all would have enjoyed witnessing.

We found our studies very hard this year, but Frieda was as loyal as ever in English class. Martin broke the monotony by taking a real "spill" which was embarrassing to him, but seemed very laughable to all others present except Miss Copeland.

Our reception was well planned with the aid of Miss Sexton and Miss Griffith, but we had a great catastrophe in that our decorations caught fire and were all practically ruined. However, this did not mar the happiness of the evening because we postponed the banquet until after the dance. In spite of our misfortune the affair was a decided success, for the Seniors and Faculty had patience and cheerful dispositions.

The Junior-Senior Hunt proved to be very exciting for the Seniors had gone decidedly out of their territory so we could not find them. The affair came to a fitting climax at a party at the home of one of the Seniors.

Our Junior year came to a close as we marched behind the Seniors at their graduation and happily thought of the next one, which would be ours.

We were very disappointed on September 13, 1920, to find that only thirteen of our members came back to school. We, however, did not let that worry us but proceeded to elect officers for our busiest term. Harry was re-elected president; Selma, vice-president; Grace, secretary and Alice treasurer.

Dorothy, our loyal stenographer, worked cheerily in the office during her entire Senior year. Grace and Dorothea proceeded with their Commercial course, specializing in Typewriting and Commercial Arithmetic. They came to school regularly even though the "Ford" did try to hinder their education.

Franklin's ambitions may soar toward politics but there is one person in the class who is very glad that he, also, is small of stature.

Walter, our towering six-footer, seemed to have had bad luck when it comes to accidents that keep him out of school, but to his credit he always "makes his credit."

Mildred and Florence having been appointed on the advertising committee worked earnestly only to find that advertisements were not needed. They were so busy that they even forgot that trains went by old time in Valpo.

Martin is the retiring member of our class but he may be a promising violinist, whom we will be proud to call our classmate.

Selma's good nature and fine sense of humor have helped us through many gloomy days. We sympathize with her for her misfortune of having nothing to bake in Domestic Science.

The adjective "studious" will appropriately describe Frieda who always has her lessons even though she does live far from school.

We shall never forget the most delightful party which Alice gave us. She is noted for her zealously in entertaining her schoolmates and teachers.

We have all been in Hobart High School during the entire four years so, each one knows of the pleasant times enjoyed by us and we all look forward to the Junior Reception and our Graduation day.

Appreciation

The Seniors hereby express their sincere appreciation to all who have aided in the publication of this volume of "Memories."

HARRY—Class President

Harry as class president, was a good class leader for two years. He likes chemistry and a certain girl nicknamed "Honey."

FRIEDA—Editor-in-Chief

Frieda, our star English student, aims to be an author. She is fond of gazing into space, and delights in daydreaming.

SELMA—Vice-President

Selma is best described as being "just Selma." Good hearted, loving and kind, she has made a host of everlasting friendships, among her classmates and associates.

MILDRED—Artist

Mildred has a queenly stature, well adapted to the stage. She has taken part in oratorical contests, and desires to become an actress.

GRACE—Secretary

Grace is fond of dancing, is noted for having dates, and wants to be a member of the Follies. Here's hoping that when New York's footlights shine on her, she will not forget her more humble classmates.

FRANKLIN—Orator

Franklin is adept at feigning innocence in regard to assignments. He is fond of out door life, and wishes to become a second Thoreau.. We wish him success.

FLORENCE—Business Mgr.

Florence is a jolly, good companion. Her good nature and fun loving disposition have won her a permanent place in the hearts of her classmates and teachers.

ALICE—Treasurer

Alice is our farmerette, and a hard worker. Twice she gave the class a royal time, with both a class party and dinner.

MARTIN—Violinist

Martin plays the violin, and also likes "punching." He will especially be remembered by us, for getting "fussed" in English recitations.

DOROTHEA—Class Beauty

Dorothea is from Deep River. She came to school in a Ford, which caused her much trouble. In spite of her many trials, however, her beauty and her cheerful outlook on life have not been marred.

DOROTHY—Office Girl

Dorothy, the office girl, has ambitions to become a private secretary. Her quiet and retiring ways, may, however, prove to be misleading, for in those tranquil eyes, a spark of mischief lurks.

WALTER—Joke Editor

Walter is the tallest member of our class. He is noted for blushing during recitations, and for always being ready to lend a helping hand.

RAPHAEL—Musician

Raphael, with her cheerful disposition, has endeared herself to us all. She is our class musician and hopes to play in Paris next fall.

When we all are dead and in the grave,
To know it, the whole world will crave;
His address you'll find on
The wicked knave!

Our addresses you'll find on page 16.

A sacred burden is this life ye bear;
Look on it, lift it, bear it solemnly,
Stand up beneath it steadfastly,
Fail not for sorrow, falter not for sin,
But onward, upward, till the goal ye win.

Dulce est desipera in loco—Nonsense now and then is pleasing.

Mr. Small (speaking of coal explosions): How are you going to prevent the door's blowing off?

Bright Student: Keep it open.

Gas from anthracite coal is very dangerous. You might wake up some morning and find yourself dead.

Mr. Small: How heavy is sulphuric acid?

Selma: Heavier than air.

Mr. Small: What did Gay-Lusac do?

Student: He made a law.

Harry to Florence: Gee! Where dja get the powder?

Florence: Why, have I got too much on?

Mr. Small: How many atoms must there be in a molecule?

Harry: Must be two or more, but some have only one.

Mr. Small: Now, we were all small once.

If  $H_2O_2$  can bleach hair, it surely can bleach wool.

Chemistry exam. Jan. 20. Mr. Small: Well, how do you like it Walter.

Walter: Looks pretty tough!

Mr. Small: Well, I know I'm a bum writer.

Miss Molander (speaking about Emerson): Now don't forget the date.

Alice: He (Poe's father) married an actor.

Mr. Small (after spilling HCL on his coat): A person must be very careful when using acids, or he'll spoil the harmony of the home.

Walter in Chemistry wondering what would happen, put a drop of concentrated  $H_2SO_4$  on Florence's arm. The following results were obtained:

1. "Some commotion." A second vaccination scar on her right arm.
3. A broken skull (almost).

Harry: In his latter life Poe married a woman.

Frieda: He took up two boards from the floor and buried him under the ceiling.

One day in Mr. LaRue's Algebra class Harry sneezed.

Mr. La Rue: Harry, was that you that whistled?

Our third year while Mr. Small was our English teacher for a while (picking up our text and glancing through it): I never met Metcalf before.

Mr. Small (explaining Paradise Lost): When Satan was kicked out of Heaven, he went down below us.

Some one: To China?

Mr. Small: No, further than that, I have some very good friends down there.

Miss Copeland: Get it for nothing, for its worth the money.

One of the girls couldn't understand the Ancient Mariners' predicament.

Miss Copeland: Why, they were stranded in one of the tropical calms of the equator.

Mr. Small in Physics last year, standing on one foot to illustrate center of gravity. "It's hard to find the center of gravity through my small foot."

Walter, reading a Latin sentence came to the word "ucissem;" he met with two other words with similar endings and his face took on a red glow while the class laughed.

Miss Griffith: Walter, are those perfect subjunctives bothering you?

Eurelia, a little town in Oregon, is situated along one of the coast-to-coast railroads. Discussions often arise as to the pronunciation of the name. When the train approaches this station, the conductor will step into the back of a coach and call "E-youra-liar." The brakie comes into the front of the coach and calls out "You-really-are."

It was the second time that they had gone together; they were now watching Hobart and her men play ball.

He: Jones is going to be our best man.

She: Why, Frank, how sudden.

Three is a crowd they say,
And there were three,
He, the parlor lamp, and she.
Two is a couple,
And that no doubt
Is why the parlor lamp went out.

Miss Molander: And he falls deeply in love with a woman—of course.

Martin: Miss Molander, I want a book that has the Great Stone Face in it.

Hawthorne, in one of his stories tells us that the catastrophe was so horrible that one woman was stricken speechless.—Some Imagination.

Miss Molander: To make themselves more religious they laid on spikes as they thought that would make them holy.—I guess it would make them holy!!

We, in History were looking at a picture of some men unloading dynamite at the Panama Canal.

Miss Portmess: A rather delicate job.

Miss Portmess: The Reichstag of Germany is just like our house of Representatives, only its just a bit different.

Miss Rowe giving Shorthand outline for develop "dev-el."

Miss Portmess (In Civics): We don't always vote for principle, but whom do we generally vote for?

Harry: The best man.

Miss Rowe giving dictations.

Florence (absent minded): Huh!

Selma (in shorthand transcript work): And they rubberized them.

Miss Rowe: Selma, that word is revolutionized.

Up at one of our High School socials, Selma and Florence were dancing together and accidentally bumped into another couple.

Selma: Excuse me!

Florence: Certainly.

Grace once told us this joke: One: What are you going to do, survey Hebart? The other: No, we are going to measure it for a coffin, its dead!

Junior English—Willie: Ma, was Robinson Crusoe an acrobat?

Mother: I don't know son. Why?

Willie: Well, it says here that when his day's work was done he'd sit on his chest and read.

Our first year—Martin was debating that a big ca was better than a Ford. He came to a place and seemed to be able to go no further. He became embarrassed. "Aw, Gee Wizz!"

Miss Gilliland: What? Martin!

Martin (after another attempt): Gee Wizz!

He gave up in despair, went to his seat, shook his head and said: "Gee Wizz!"
